

You are invited to the launch of the new academic programme:

M.Phil in Conflict Resolution and Reconciliation

Thursday
21 October 2010

4.45 - 6.00pm

*Welcome and Introduction
Dr Gladys Ganiel,
Programme Co-ordinator
&
Dr Geraldine Smyth,
Head of the Irish School of Ecumenics*

*Keynote address
'The Importance of Studying
Conflict Resolution
& Reconciliation'
given by
Baroness Nuala O'Loan, DBE,
Special Envoy to Timor-Leste for the Republic of Ireland's Department of Foreign Affairs & the former
Northern Ireland
Police Ombudsman
(1999-2007)*

Trinity College Dublin | at Belfast
683 Antrim Road
Belfast BT15 4EG

Phone: +44 (0)2890 770087

E-mail: reconsec@tcd.ie

Trinity College Dublin at Belfast

You are warmly invited to attend the launch of the new

Master's (M.Phil) programme in Conflict Resolution and Reconciliation offered by the Irish School of Ecumenics,
Trinity College Dublin | at Belfast.

We would also like to announce the launch of the related website:

<http://www.conflictransformation.ie>

Light refreshments will be served from 4.45 and Baroness O'Loan will speak at 5.15.

All are welcome, but since places are limited, if you plan to come please reply to Caroline Clarke, tel 02890 770087 (or 048 9077 0087 from Rep. of Ireland) or reconsec@tcd.ie by Friday, 15 October 2010. Directions by public transport or car are available on request or from www.tcd.ie/ise/directions. Please note that parking on-site is very limited and that it is better to park on side-streets.