

St Patrick's
Mental Health Services

Women's Mental Health Network

---

What is the Women's Mental Health Network?

The Women's Mental Health Network (WMHN) is a network of people and organisations with a committed interest in women's mental health issues. The WMHN is co-convened by St. Patrick's Mental Health Services (SPMHS) and the National Women's Council of Ireland (NWCI). The network has two aims:

- To provide a forum for information-sharing and networking among interested parties
- To advance interdisciplinary and multi-agency collaboration to progress shared aims and goals in the promotion of women's mental health issues.

The network's activities will include:

- An information-providing and information-sharing webpage, initially hosted on both NWCI and SPMHS websites
- A mailing list to provide members with updates
- Networking events hosted collaboratively by SPMHS and NWCI

---

To become a member of the network please fill in the below and return to maryh@nwci.ie

Please sign me up to the Women's Mental Health Network (to get more involved in the network, and for updates on news and events).

Name:

Contact details:

OR

Contact Louise O'Leary, Advocacy Project Manager, St. Patrick's Mental Health Services, at loleary@stpatsmail.com, or (01) 2493 336.

You can withdraw your membership at any time in the same way.